Pakistan, as one of the largest Muslim nation in the world, has taken some policies and established some strategies in order to develop Islamic banking industry in the country. Islamic banking, like commercial banking, faces a number of implications that may influence their operational performance. One of such implications is liquidity risk that provides extra features in the situation of Islamic banking. Both the Sharia rules and the international standards of banking propose that banks must have some strong management policies concerning to implication of liquidity risk, such as a liability committee and reactive asset, system of internal control and useful information, and techniques for managing deposits to decrease liquidity on-demand, in order to manage the liquidity risk and its implications. The purpose of this study, therefore, is...
